In light of COVID-19, most people have now worked from home. However, research shows working from home is far worse for team cohesion and innovation than working in the office. Also, this is a challenge to keep your employee's mentally and physically healthy over the coming weeks.

We have solutions!

Our Home Office Wellbeing Programme, a new guideline for workplace health for you and your employee.

The Facts of Working from Home

27%

Difficulty in switching off at the end of the day or working week

25%

Difficult to cope with the challenges

36%

Difficult to separate their home and work lives

According to NHS, access to arts opportunities and participation in the arts can dramatically improve health outcomes and wellbeing, counter inequalities and increase social engagement.

Painting, drawing, sculpting and even only simply viewing art have the ability to stimulate the centres in the brain related to pleasure and reward. Some researchers have found that browsing through an art gallery can help lower the body's concentration of the stress hormone cortisol and increase that of the pleasure hormone dopamine.

Art as a tool for wayfinding, culture, and employee ownership
Workplaces can often feel like a maze of desks, hallways, and doors. Art can usefully function as a landmark, helping people travelling through a space to remember where they've been. It can also come in handy when providing directions.

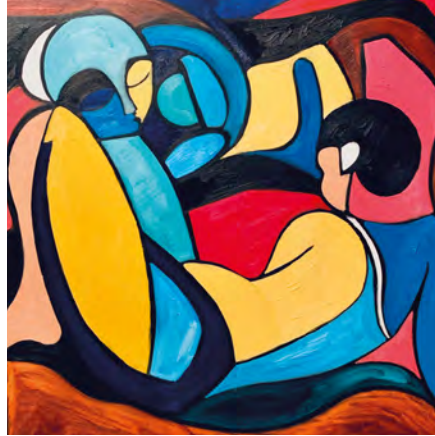

ABOUT US

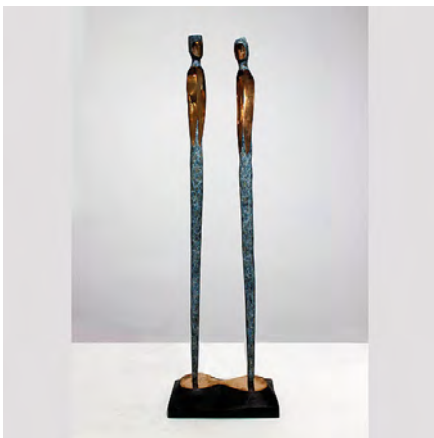

508 Gallery is a London based independent contemporary Art Gallery with a mission to create a platform that is indispensable and speaks to all art collectors and artists globally. In addition, 508 Gallery aims to promote freedom of creative expression, discover creative work, and share remarkable artworks that will spark the creative fire and great inspiration.

We specialise in emerging art, ranging from abstract through to figurative. We don't sell Hirst; we don't do Warhol prints; instead, we bring something new, fresh and exciting to the art world and the Kings Road. We have also featured on the BBC and The Times.

OUR ARTWORKS

508 Gallery has a large selection of modern and contemporary art for you to discover, organised under our various headers and themes including Figurative, Abstract, Cityscape, Landscape, Seascape, Still Life, Print, Photography, Upcycling and Sculpture.

"There is a lot of love in our art community, and we want to share some joy and hope. Art, when it's at its best and most inspiring, reveals the fundamental human truth that there's more bringing us together than keeping us apart."

Our Managing Director – Mauran Kumar
